MOSQUITO CAMPAIGN FIGURES LARGELY IN DEMOCRATIC TALK

Bourbons Open Campaign to Large Crowd at Aala Park

Eulogizing Democracy and predicting overwhelming victory of the Democrats this year, not only on the mainland, but also in Hawaii, Democratic nominees on legislative and county tickets addressed a mass meeting held last night in Aala Park. Bertram G. Rivenburgh, mayor's secretary, conducted the meeting, which formally opened the Bourbon campaign.

All the candidates who were introduced to the assembly predicted Democratic victory in November. They were emphatic in denouncing the Republican administration.

The banana and mosquito campaign, together with the ousting of the Portuguese settlers on Punchbowl by alleged order of the Territorial authorities, were prominently mentioned to the voters, who were asked to defeat the Republican candidates and vote the straight Democratic ticket.

Colonel C. J. McCarthy, candidate for treasurer, spoke briefly of the candidacy of the Democratic nominees. One by one he pointed out to the voters the splendid qualifications of the regular Democratic nominees who are seeking the support of the voters.

He said that a new battleship named Honolulu, representing the voters of Hawaii, Maui, Oahu and Kauai, was now ready for a battle with Link McCandless as the commander-in-chief. He remarked that McCandless, if favored with election in November, will not desert his position in Washington, but that he will stay by his guns, protecting the interests of Hawaii and its people.

Judge A. A. Wilder said that most of the Republican nominees were his friends. He thought, however, that they will not do what's right for the people after they are elected in November. He predicted Governor Woodrow Wilson's election this year, and added that Hawaii will go Democratic, too. He concluded by saying that District Attorney Breckons, one of his intimate friends, should be removed because of his pernicious activity in local politics.

Rose and the Bananas. Deputy Sheriff Rose said that during the banana campaign he, as a citizen, strongly opposed the wholesale destruction of his bananas in Manoa. That on that account, he added, his bananas were finally left undisturbed. He invited the luau managers to call on him for bananas.

A. J. Wirtz, candidate for the Senate, made his maiden speech last night. He praised the Democratic doctrine of freedom of speech and freedom of the press. He added that it was the Democratic party that first advocated the primary election. He denounced the Republicans assembled in the Chicago convention. Wirtz was decorated with a ginger lei.

J. M. Poepoe told the people that the Republicans brought the mosquitoes into the Territory, and that if they were elected again in November they will bring in some more insects which will be detrimental to the people.

Colonel C. P. Laukea denounced the Republican administration for ousting the Portuguese settlers on Punchbowl, who, he said, had preferential rights to live on the land.

S. S. Paxson was introduced as a "sewing machine man." He spoke briefly on woman's suffrage, school buildings, and said that the present superintendent of public instruction should be supplanted by another man who is more competent and accurate in making estimates for school purposes.

B. N. Kahalepuna promised to discharge faithfully the duties of the office of county clerk if elected in November.

"Maui No Ka Oi." J. L. Coke, a former Mauiian, was greeted with a song of "Maui No Ka Oi." Early in the evening he was decorated with a beautiful lei of roses. His speech, in Hawaiian, declared that, though he is white, his aloha is for the Hawaiians.

J. Asch promised, if elected, to work for the establishment of more public hospitals with modern equipment.

Supervisor McClellan thanked the voters for their support and election in the past.

M. C. Pacheco said that if elected a supervisor he will try his best to prevent extravagance in public office by the board of supervisors. He condemned the present board for inefficiency.

E. H. F. Walters, candidate for supervisor, denounced the Republican administration for the heavy taxation now placed on the poor people. He said that the present board of supervisors has been spending public money in a "hoodlum" way.

H. M. Kaniho, nominee for representative, said as follows: "I now belong to a Democratic regiment which can make the Republicans 'sneeze' at night." He said that the Republican administration spent $70,000 foolishly in the banana and mosquito campaign and that as soon as the fund was paid, he proclaimed, the mosquitoes disappeared.

"You Republicans who are looking at me now, vote for me!" he shouted. "Last time the Republicans told you nothing about appropriating money for the extermination of the mosquito, but after their election they did things to suit themselves. In doing so, however, you suffered considerably. I advise you to vote for me and the Democratic ticket." He said that he will work hard for Link McCandless.

Lester Petrie asked for support on election day. D. Kupihea promised to be a "watchdog" in the legislature if elected in November.

Bill Jarrett, candidate for sheriff, as usual, said very little. The thousands of voters who came to support the Democratic candidates, so that the general public will receive benefit.

Mayor Fern said, "I was very much in doubt as to whether I would win in November, but my friends Ellen P. Low," pointed at him, "been nominated as a Republican for mayor." He said that as a public servant he wanted all his political mates on the same ticket elected in November. He asked the voters to vote for Link McCandless and the entire ticket of the Democratic party.

SEVERE LAW PROPOSED AGAINST FRUIT FLY

San Francisco Examiner, Sept. 29: Special legislation will have to be enacted by Congress if the Mediterranean fruit fly is to be kept out of California, according to Dr. C. L. Marlatt, chief entomologist of the Department of Agriculture, who arrived from Honolulu on the liner Sierra yesterday.

Dr. Marlatt, who was accompanied by his family, was sent to Hawaii more than a month ago by Secretary Wilson following an appropriation of $20,000 by Congress to assist in keeping the fruit fly out of the Pacific Coast States.

As Hawaii is a Territory the Federal government has the right to take any steps deemed advisable to keep the pest from the mainland.

It is expected that any legislation which Congress may devise next winter will be based largely on a report which Dr. Marlatt has already sent to Washington.

"This report will recommend that all persons who even attempt to ship restricted fruits out of Hawaii be fined and imprisoned. It is proposed that this law apply also to any person who attempts to carry any of this kind of fruit on board a vessel sailing from a Hawaiian port."

"The menace of the fruit fly is so great," Dr. Marlatt said, "and the damage to California and other States would be so enormous that it is now necessary to keep any infested fruit from even arriving at one of our docks."

"Shipments are now easily regulated, but it is not so easy to keep travelers and others from taking infested fruit to this and other ports."

"To make the quarantine effective it will be necessary for State and Federal officials to cooperate. This will be done."
